Go, you move we go, now don't go,
You move we don't, now go,
Now don't you move, we won't go, now don't go, go,
I thought the way that she moved meant the way that she tasted,
I could rip the seams right through her lips,
A captivating experience that left me here,
With intoxicating kiss,
But tonight, I'm setting all my memories aside

So why don't we trace the footsteps back into our past with the ones we've lost?
Too many bad mistakes were made,
No one should have to take the fall for it, when it's our life to live,

Go, you move we go, now don't go,
You move we don't, now go,
Now don't you move, we won't go, now don't go, go,
Found out the way that he moved,
Found out the way that he tasted,
Then he ripped the seams right from her lips, Never thinking the first time that they met, would be the last she saw of him,

Is glamour an issue? A balancing reason?
Are we all waiting to destroy,
The things in life we are made of?
A blessing we're tasting,
And come so fond to recreate,
I can feel the expansion, resembling patterns,
Disguising everything, and what we have to relate,
And it's all for this one dance

So why don't we trace the footsteps back into our past,
with the ones we've lost?
Too many bad mistakes were made,
No one should have to take the fall for it, when it's our
life to live

I am watching over you from the stars,

Don't be scared, I know exactly where you are,
Cause there's a piece of me and it's burning in your heart,
Even death could never tear us apart
