Call the holiday ringer
Bring out the sun today
A word or two all about the view
We are about to say
The trows arrive in triplets
To handle the affairs
Regaining all the favors
Are the Aunties and the heirs

From your cares you can take your leave
At the dance of the Midyear's Eve

I heard Two-Navel Turley
Is wearing his disguise
The entertaining juggler
Is bound to win the prize
The leprechauns are winking
There's mischief on the move
It seems their stunts go all at once
No matter how you choose

From your cares you can take your leave
At the dance of the Midyear's Eve

We're two feet tall you see...
Which you can also be
And best of all
It's free

Please observe things are always free
It makes no difference to me
But your invited to bring your friends and stay
We're all awaiting Midyear's Day

Don't leave 'cause you've got munchies
The scones are on the way
Everywhere I hear
Someone passing just to say
Would you care to make this next one
I've waited for the chance
To see the year go tilting here

And gather for a dance

From your cares you can take your leave
At the dance of the Midyear's Eve

And shout if you want to be
At the dance of the Midyear's Eve
