Now avatar has woken
He is full of long letter words
He is talking about people coming from Mars
And the light surrounding us
His life in this city of time
Has no meaning at all
But if you want someone to look for and find
It's him - I know for sure

Well I know for sure
As so many worlds spinning around the sun
As so many people spinning round those worlds
And have fun

Now he's drunk well in the morning still controlling
And he's strolling and he's rolling through our souls
But if you want someone who's wise and strong
It's him I know for sure
