Welcome to worlwide weblines,

Please fasten the body scan belt and draw your attention

To the hologram map to your right and type your destination,

Warning, we are not responsible for losing your body information,

You may end up forever lost in space, and remember, We can not stop your thinking.

Between the shelters from the delight Among the stars and black cold night You're trembling and losing your mind You're lost in space

Hey now you got the last chance Fade out fade out Far out up in the sky High high
