oh boy what happened
i just can't tell you since you have left many words said tears cried and some beautiful thefts promises whispered heads cut all the doors were shut she was born in the park in the dark no pa no ma singing la la la la la la she sounds like a little child on the phone she sounds like a little child left alone single double triple cipple in the streets long haired strangers were looking for weed amazing so amazing being lazy

take me take me take me take me take me take me take me take me to the stars

she sounds like a little child...
