"Highway Man"

I am a highwayman, on the road again
Me and my guitar, and my rambling band

Staring at the road, standing in the blow
Carrying my load 'cause I know I'm gonna go my way Look up to the sky, cities flying by
I don't wanna lie cause I'm pretty sure I'm gonna die one day

So I say the road leads back to thee
It always leads back to thee
How can I show my love so you will open your arms to me

So please won't you tell me where the road will end
Got me a bottle as my only friend

Standing in the rain, dealing with the pain Everything's the same and it doesn't really matter what I say
Picking up the phone, come to take you home
You will say no doubts, the reality of today

Busting my thoughts fly back to thee
They always fly back to thee Please won't you understand that without you by my side there's no me

So will you ever love me again, only time will tell
I'm in a hurry, cause they're waiting down in hell

And no matter what I say say or do
The road lead back to you€!
