I take a step back and wait for react
If there's no reaction I will take it in another direction
There's no way out of this
you will find that you are behind

Oh my god I think I made a mistake Everything seems to break
The more I think I need you the more I want to push away In here I can't see your face
I don't want to you're a fucking disgrace Don't ever try to reach me
I don't need your fucking sympathy

I take a step back and wait for react
If there's no reaction I will take it in another direction
There's no way out of this
you will find that you are behind

I don't feel anything I used to know and it was you who threw it away with one throw but now your feelings get to you those you thought you could get thru chipping for air drowning in your own tears you thought you were cold as ice

Every time I step out of bed I feel it breaking and I feel that I have failed
I have failed
I have failed
