Steps we have to follow, we feed, we need and we greed our bodies with anger

We pick it up, we feel it, we leave it We don't believe in it and we are so afraid to let it in under our skin so we just scream

Why do we act like this when we feel there's something we miss Some things are worth to steal all the things that makes us believe

So why doesn't our actions reflect what we feel on the inside
What goes around in our head, what cuts our temple's to pieces

These are the steps you have to follow just leave your past and swallow I know you can feel it, and I know you don't believe in it so stop feed yourself with anger and take the path you have to follow stop asking why and start asking

Why do we act like this
when we feel there's something we miss
Some things are worth to steal
all the things that makes us believe
