you said youre just too good,
translated i understood
"youre childish and immature, i've seen the world and then some more,
never meant those words i said,
and youre the fool for eating what i fed you"
are you sorry now?
i wish i'd given up when there was no reason why, but i still had to try and i pushed too hard and i heard say the words that clarified your actions and your stay.
i know i said "lets still be friends" and i meant what i said back then, but things changed when i realised, what really went through your mind.
i hope i can still forgive, but all i'm really sure of is i still care, but you dont, how is that fair?
