Suddenly, we're supposed to be shocked by what we see but it's appealing Some people said some things and we were quick to your defense
But now it seems as if they might have had a point
You let them up on your way down

Cuz we all tried, to deny, again we're left just wondering why

So with a closer look, the story turns to fact it opens my eyes
With hindsight glasses on we all look back at everyone
But this case leaves us without any reason Here's the glasses, here's the towel, we give if you do

Cuz we all tried, to deny, again we're left just
wondering why
Just wondering why

Cuz we all tried, to deny, again we're left just
wondering why
You're fighting, you're losing, you're running, you're slowing You're hiding, you're scared, how could you say you were unaware?

Where else might we find you?
Or parts that give us clues
All in all just wondering where it is that all this came from You left behind your friends
You threw away importance I guess you let us know exactly where it is that we all stand

All the times
All the times
All the times
Every other time
