"Involved"

Involved again, with my enemy my head
An endless fight to overcome, the demons that keep me from calm
I cling on to sincerity, I find myself hard to believe The battle's on a war is waged, inside me, so much bottled rage

I ask myself again, but I've got nothing to say
As I keep alive this life long rivalry
But I've got nothing to say
I've backed off to a mild pain
I'm waiting for someone to open the door
So I can test myself again

Oh I know, here I go, at battle again with my enemy
Oh I know, here I go, at battle again with my head

Involved again, my chance to vent has come and went I'll get some sleep another night, I'm sure in time I'll feel all right
It's on again

Oh I know, here I go, at battle again with my enemy
Oh I know, here I go, at battle again with my head

And still I'm gonna try, to be my alibi
Still I'm gonna try, to try and get it right
Still I'm gonna try, to give an honest fight
With the hope that one day there will be just one of me to side with
