Sometimes you need somebody's help
Sometimes it's just not enough
Looking through the window thinking what is next
Wishing it'd come back, wishing for the best

Wanting to get rid of the relationships
Get away from the insecurities
Wanting to walk and just walk
Get away from the responsibilities

And I won't let myself choke on
All this pressure and stress
And I won't let myself fall from
The pushes and shoves and the problems and regrets
I just need to let myself go

It's getting harder and harder to breathe
Hoping I can get somewhere wild and free
Have my own little space, have all the room I can take
And scream

And I won't let myself choke on
All this pressure and stress
And I won't let myself fall from
The pushes and shoves and the problems and regrets
I just need to let myself go

And I won't let myself choke on
All this pressure and stress
And I won't let myself fall from
The pushes and shoves and the problems and regrets
I just need to let myself go
