On your own.
(Honey pot)

Another day in time
Just trying to survive
Day by day growing older
Going where
I need to find the way
To make my self feel great
In this world full of hate tread and disgrace
But can't we all be friends
And make our day a better day
The evil and you must go away
And now is time to change
I now it's hard for all the same
For now and for ever
Don't take this all back

You're on your own
You're on your own
On our own

You see the children play
See there is no hate
There's no such thing as violent in their minds
You see the pigeons turn
And people start to change
Even best friends are now worst enemies
But can't we all be friends
And make our lives a better one
The evil and you must go away
But now is time to change
I know is hard for all the same
But now and for ever
We're here just for a while

Can we all be friends?
An make our day a better day
Now is time to change
I know it's hard for all the same

For now and for ever the hate must go away (2x)
You're on
Your own
On our own
