You poured liquid nitrogen down my spine
as you told me you didn't love me any more ran off with the girl next door
You poured liquid nitrogen in my heart and you told me it wouldn't hurt, what a liar
You promised you'd always be true

You said you'd be mine 12 months a year, 24 hours a day
You said I'd be yours each week my dear, until the end of time
But then you found her and you left me here
To cry and to run of tears
And now here I wait 12 months a year
But I'm hoping one day you'll come back to stay

You poured liquid nitrogen down my spine
ran off with the girl next door
You poured liquid nitrogen in my heart
and you told me it wouldn't hurt, what a liar
You promised you'd always be true

You said you'd be mine forever and ever, 5040 minutes a week
Except Christmas Day 'cause you go see your mother 2800 less divided by 2
You said I'd be yours 30,240,000 seconds a year Including leap years, which means 86,400 extra every four

You poured liquid nitrogen down my spine
and run off with the girl next door
You poured liquid nitrogen in my heart
and you told me it wouldn't hurt, what a liar
You promised you'd always be true

You said you'd be mine 3600 seconds an hour every
Which in milliseconds that's 43,200 times 10 to the 3rd

You said I'd be yours 24 hours a day, integrating until the end of time.
In nanoseconds that's just the square root of 2670 billion times 10 to the 90 divided by two

You'd always be true divided by two

divided by two
