"Momentum"

You are the dark ocean bottom
And I am the fast sinking anchor
Should I fall for you
Should I fall for you
You are the scar on my tissue
That I show all of my new friends
Should I show you me
Should I show you me

All we need is a little bit of momentum
Breakdown these walls that we've built around ourselves
All we need is a little bit of inertia
Breakdown and tell breakdown and tell

That you are the rain on the fire
Deep in the trees when no one was looking
Should I speak of this
Should I speak of this
You are a mirage in the distance
That defies the heat of the desert
Should I believe in you
Should I believe in you

All we need is a little bit of momentum
Breakdown these walls that we've built around
ourselves
All we need is a little bit of inertia
Breakdown and tell breakdown and tell

These rules are made to break and these walls are built to fall
These rules are made to break us
These rules are made to break and these walls are built
to fall
These rules are made to break us all

All we need is a little bit of momentum
Breakdown these walls that we've built around
ourselves
All we need is a little bit of inertia

Breakdown and tell breakdown and tell
That you are

Breakdown and tell breakdown and tell breakdown and tell that you are
