check the mirror dont ever, lock and load on this so fragile, so cold words freeze over your lips and reds your colour, baby hiding green smiles, you're faking you wear it so well

tell me goodnight
like you never know me
i wish this was the end
but im waiting, waiting, for sharper words to come from trusted friends

so empty, youre dancing on my firing range street no shadows, glass houses and everyone hears you screaming blues become you, baby no cover up can save you

good burns deserve another two thats one thing that ive learnt from you
thats one thing that ive learnt
