"Between Two Worlds"

In years gone by this story's been told
This house has a guest from times of old
Just stay one night and you might see
We know before the dawn a witness you may be
And as the halls fall dark
And the rooms grow cold
From the shadows she comes
My attention is held as her presence is felt in the night

Your skin starts to crawl and your heart beats fast
Then an image appears like a figure in glass
What is it that she wants as she looks into your eyes
She's tried to tell for years of murder deceit and lies

A lady in grey between two worlds
In the night
A lady in grey trying to find her way out.
