"Sweet Harness"

Burning the bridge at both ends,
I'm drinking out of a glass half full of sweet harness.
Turning the cheek with sick teeth,
Sucking me dry with apathy and sorry,
But I can't hear them.

White light mouth pouring with a white heat,
Resembling a white moon silver surfacing a black sea,
Sailing only me.

Burning up time with nine lives.
I feel obliged to bide and rot and rule.
Keeping the sun down, keeping it cool.

White light mouth pouring with a white heat,
Resembling a white moon silver surfacing a black sea,
Sailing only
White light mouth pouring with a white heat,
Sailing only me.

Easy chemistry, only me.
Easy chemistry, lonely me.
Easy chemistry, positively correcting me
When all I need is in concrete, crookedly.

Eyes climb up and down you,
With the white heat sinking into
White eyes when I'm sleeping.
White heat sailing only me.
