I can tell you're falling for me
Falling for the same old lines
I can write a book about it
How love can be so unkind
Just like all the stories
I've read in the past
Just like a dream that slowly dies
They say, baby, true love last forever
It's a lie.
How could you love me
When everybody else
Whoever loved me
Turned out to be wrong to be
In love with someone like me.

Love is more than just emotion
Love is more than just devotion
It could break your heart to stay
Baby, you better think about it
And if you can live without it
Turn and walk away.

Just like all the stories
I've read in the past
Just like a dream that slowly dies
They say, baby, true love last forever
It's a lie.

How could you love me
When everybody else
Whoever loved me
Ended up a tragedy
Loving someone like me.

How could you love me
When everyone, everyone baby
They could write a million lies
About the times with me.

How could you love me
When everybody else

Whoever loved me
Turned out to be wrong to be
In love with someone like me.
