

The Icarus Account "Safe"

Visit "Safe" on MotoLyrics.com

I never told you why I'm with you
But let's be honest I was scared
I couldn't bear that I might lose you
It makes my words come out confused

There's something in your smile
That keeps me coming back
Something in your eyes
That makes me melt inside
Something in your words
That makes me feel like I am safe
And makes me know that I'm alive

So why not go after another
Is what you asked me to explain
Cause only your hand fits inside of mine
As if they were a lock and key

Was I choking on the moment
Or did fear overcome love
Then your eyes looked into mine
And I knew that we were safe
And I knew we were alive

Sometimes it's just hard to say how two can feel this way
Some may call us both insane and I won't deny it
Certainty of broken hearts battles to be fought and lost
Smashing of two into one is what we desire
At the end of all of this promise me with stubborn lips
You'll know the sound of my voice as I sing this

There's something in your smile
That keeps me coming back
Something in your eyes
That makes me melt inside
Something in your words
That makes me feel like I am safe
And makes me know that I'm alive

