

Jill Jackson

"The Letter"

Visit "The Letter" on MotoLyrics.com

Thinking hard and thinking fast
Thinking I'm not built to last through anything
Getting high and sinking low
Turning into skin and bone
Through all this pain
But please don't cry
I promise I

I'll do the right thing, make it go away
Keep thinking about that letter, I read it every day
I'll do the right thing, leave you well alone
Hoping it gets better, I don't feel right at home
Don't feel like I'm home

Something's weird and something's wrong
I'm breaking down to carry on through everything
I never love but I never hate
You were perfect, you were great
But I've not changed
So dry your eyes
I promise I

I'll do the right thing, make it go away
Keep thinking about that letter, I read it every day
I'll do the right thing, leave you well alone
Hoping it gets better, I don't feel right at home
Don't feel like I'm home

Oh hold me hold me hold me, like you do, like you do
If only I had you, I had you, I don't have you

I'll do the right thing, make it go away
Keep thinking about that letter, I read it every day
I'll do the right thing, leave you well alone
Hoping it gets better, I don't feel right at home
Don't feel like I'm home

Visit Jill Jackson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

