So you've tried to be stronger
But you've just sold your emotions
After you've cried for too long
While I was proud of you
This is not your true life
And you know better than me
You can't hide all with the sand

give me one good reason
Tell me why you're leaving all this
give me one good reason
Tell me why you need the all ways
To get out of this labyrinth
That you made your way

There are untouchable strings
'Cause many songs they never play
Don't keep on choosing a way
It could be the one where you'll be burst
The real is riding your heart
You let all your dreams alive
