Shining misunderstandings
Penetrate this October day
Far away from the street
The wind has come here to kiss my head
And only a bird
Seems not to know
There Must be a place somewhere
In which I can set free my soul

Laying down on the whispering wind
I know one day I will fall
Like all the humans I've seen before
I've never had wings in my soul

And how many people
Have passed from here
I'm only a blind man it seems to me a I'm breathing virginity
