

Shore, The "Hold on"

I've been living all these years; just to grow another
fear,
And to feel the other side of you leaving,
We can't know where we belong,
Aging rivers move along and the breath of our hearts
Is dying

Lord I'm needing you so much,
I'm so afraid of losing touch,
Don't you feel it when I say...?

Baby, please hold on to it,
Baby, please hold on to it, oh, oh, oh.

Burning through another day,
Watching the tide roll away,
And the ocean of our lives is fading,
And I'm trying to feel the light,
Pass through darkness in the night,
We're both changing, can't you see?

That I'm needing you so much,
We've come so far to lose our touch,
Better believe me, when I say?

Baby, please hold on to it,
Oh, baby please hold on to it, oh, oh,
Oh, oh, oh.

Lord I'm needing you so much,
I'm so afraid of losing touch,
Don't you feel it when I say...?

Baby, please hold on to it,
Baby, please hold on to it, oh, oh, oh.

Oh, how will I know?
Oh, how will I know?
Oh, how will I know?
