Highway Man

They call me highway man,
because you know I'm always on the go.
Yeah, they call me highway man,
boys, I'm always on the go.
Well, you know my friends act a little funny these days,
seems like I ain't welcome back in this town no more.
Highway man,
oh, I just got to be on the run,
highway man - that's what I am,
you know I just got to always be on the run.
Well, I just got to someday I'll be able to lay down and rest down in
They say:
"Somewhere over the rainbow - you just might find a little part to go."
"Somewhere over the rainbow - son, you might be able to find a little part to go."
I had the blues, it worries so,
got to find somewhere to rest my soul.
Highway man,
yes, you know that's just what I am.
Highway man,
yeah, you know that's just what I am.
Well, I tried to be a nice little boy,
yes, I treated everybody like a lamb.
Highway man, always on the go.
Highway man, yeah, always on the go.
Well, I tell all you friends: don't worry about me,
I was born to be on the go.
Yeah, you know I'm always on the run.
