Pressure pressure is all weve got The less you know the more you strain to reach out to see in the balance theres nothing free
It took the best of them down with a single blow Brace yourself for the challenge ahead, dont waste your breath on what you know Brace yourself for the challenge ahead, youve got to pace yourself the last to go I journeyed to the edge of all my tears and counted every night I fought alone/bartered I pray that you could feel like I do, never to endure a heart of stone/remain a martyr
The less you know, youre getting shadowed by vanity Somehow rage becomes clarity Youll find it deep in my family
It took the best of us down All of your enemies are out to change you, The greatest weapon of etiquette I traded serenity, to realize the struggle of knowing what I could get I took part in a dream where nobody told me where to go or who to be.
It opened my eyes
Never will I know of peace again Pressure is building to no end Pressure is all weve got This wont end in failure
