Now I'm taking care to take good care of me, shaking scared in disrepair in This infirmary. I chased the highs, but caught the lows, I was caught up in The throes. I burnt this bridge I could have walked across into a place Where nothing grows. I know that you feel strange, I know that you feel Weak, It's a destination change, but it's one that you can reach.

I took a drink to sort me out, to kill the pill taste on my tongue. I took A moment to myself to consider what I'd done. I was tethered, I was tied, a Vast expanse just opened wide. I broke a fever soaking wet, I took this Moment to reflect.

A desperate desert drive, a distant desert sun, arched my back and took a Dive to find some equilibrium. God I love to chase those thrills, but those Thrills came back with teeth, unconscious, unaware as they drag you Underneath. I know that you feel strange, I know that you feel weak, it's a Destination change, but it's one that you can reach (a little voice that Says you have to try, I know it hurts, but baby so do I).

Took a drink to sort me out, to kill the pill taste on my tongue. I took a Moment to myself to consider what I'd done. I was tethered, I was tied, a Vast expanse just opened wide. I broke a fever soaking
wet, I took this Moment to reflect.

I'm so glad they went away I'm so glad they went away I'm so glad they went Away I'm so glad they went away now.

Took a drink to sort me out, to kill the pill taste on my tongue. I took a Moment to myself to consider what I'd done. I was
tethered, I was tied, a Vast expanse just opened wide. I broke a fever soaking
wet, I took this Moment to reflect.
