"Like A Riot"

Strike fast strike hard on the alleys and the streets,
Break another heart like the city concrete
When you look back now was it all worth fighting for?
And i fall on my face all the mistakes
I've made and i hate everyone and i hate
Everything but it all come back
To a one sided point of view
And i run like a riot right back to
You upside, outside find it on the flipside
Stopm another hole in the otherwise right side
Take another bow was it all worth fighting for?..
And i run like a riot right back to you
And i run, and i fight, and i live in the past but i leave it behind
And i run, and i fight and i run like a riot right into you
