You need to take the time to say "I love you"
You need to take the time to say "I really care"
So many times we take things for granted
We think that they will always be there
But then the hand of fate
Tells us that it's too late
You better take the time while she's there

You better take the time to say "I need you"
Don't let a day go by that you don't say "I care"

Just hold her close to you,
And say that "I love you"
You better take the time
While she's still there

You need to take the time to be together
You need to feel and hear the things
That she won't say
Just hold her close to you
Whisper "I love you"
You need to take the time
You'd better take the time
Always take the time to say
"I love you"
