SLEEPY HOLLOW

words & music by Sleepy Hollow

INTRO:

Young Ichabod Crane leaves the ball a defeated soul Visions of a beautiful lass, her voice still echoes in his ears

Soon the feeling of a phantom presence alters his thoughts

The sound of an unseen spectre arouses his fears

Moonlight, casting strange shadows across my path - that move without wind

Legends I've heard of this region that spectres walk - and stalk in the night

A twig breaks, nearby in the woodland, from heavy weight - my heart starts to pound

I cry out a "Hail!" and "Who goes there?" to no reply - but red eyes meet my gaze!

chorus

Sleepy Hollow in the trees, glancing at me

Creepy feelings running through me - I cannot breathe

I cannot escape - fear the mental rape

I set my heels into my horse's flanks with force - and fly for my life

Although I'm the only live horseman for miles around - I hear eight hooves pound

Pure terror keeps my eyes locked forward, but I can feel -

hot breath on my neck

I must reach sanctuary in the churchyard across the bridge -

if I'm to survive
