Torn from this haven
All these changes left us begging for more
I won't be seeing no more of these days
I've been forgotten for a moment
More than once before you came my way
To show me a new day, another change

Blood of the innocent
Remains the only thing
Marking this barren land the haven of a lost day
Born, we're the innocent
Risen, the only men
Marking this barren land the haven of a lost day

By day they're awaiting
All the terror of the night
When shadows sink away before they're eyes
Can you feel us sink away tonight?
Love is a vengeance
And our hearts have found their prey
But love is blind, all kings and slaves alike
I'll let my heart take me tonight

Lies, more than lies
This disguise hides the burden from their crying eyes
Lies, no more lies
This disguise is a window painted black
But stones thrown in heroism
Many stones of heroism
Break though the shrouds revealing
Our haven's far away
Torn from our hands before us
Like many men had seen before us
I've come with stones unafraid
