this is it, this is it.
and the friendships die here, in this place.
where i find myself waiting for you.
with my emotions in a constant state of flux.
but i don't know if it's my emotions or my mind that's causing me to be so confused, perhaps its some insane combination of the two.

and i can't find the balance,
not even temporarily,
which is what will eventually kill us herein this place- where the friendships die.
turn over,
and rot, and turn into dust, because they never really mattered anyway. leaving us perpetually
alone
i am alone.
