Putting it all behind
Trying to cut it out of my mind
Little bit here and there
To pretend yet never compare,
With all those darkened nights
And all those candle lights
Still taste you on my bites.. subside
Living day by day, swallow my pride and take..
Another glimpse into this life

Aching for sympathy
Hunger for heart ache won't ever leave
Fall into somber sleep
And I will descend and pray to dream..
Of all those darkened nights
And all those candle lights
Still taste you on my bites.. subside.
Living day by day swallow my pride and take... another glimpse into my life.

I start to fade from all my hate..
I start to fade from all my hate..

Putting it all behind
Little bit here and there
To pretend yet never compare,
With all those darkened nights
And all those candle lights
Still taste you on my bites
From all my hate
I start to fade from all my hate
I start to fade from all my hate
