Something snapped in my brain again
Suddenly, things aren't the same again
And I'm tingling, turning, stinging, burning Senses we connected
And I'm blooming, bursting, craving, thirsting
Every cell
Powers up and now I come around
I realize I held my own self down

I can feel I'm rising out from the layers of domestic skin
The mediocrity are stumblin in
I can feel I'm rising from you

Don't take it personally you see it's all about me
And I'll be true to no one else but me
It took forever to free me
Blooming, bursting, craving, thirsting every cell Infected by the liquor of life, I'm taking one big swallow now

Powers up and now I come around
I realize I held my own self down
I can feel I'm rising out from the layers of domestic
skin
The mediocrity are stumblin in

Don't wait for the girl who lies in her grave
The body you bury is the life that you save
A shell of a girl no longer alive
The body must die for the soul to survive

Powers up and now I come around
I realize I held my own self down
I can feel I'm rising out from the layers of domestic
skin
The mediocrity are stumblin in
I can feel I'm rising from you
