ft. Toni Hill

,my eyes on, I'm zoned
Lights flashing shake that ass
I feel the bass in my bones
We came from one place, there's no place like home
I got the key, unlock your door,
Rock your body on the floor
And I don't mean the dance floor
We done left the club

But, when we was up in here still
We pop a couple pills
Forgot how trouble it feels
It's artificial, so official
This is the good life, until we say good night
I think we fix the new height
It's artificial, so official
When we was up in here still
We pop a couple pills
Forgot how trouble it feels
It's artificial, so official
This is the good life, until we say good night
I think we fix the new height
It's artificial, so official

So I get you home, I get you undressed
We have some fun, we watch the sun rise
Now we need to get some rest
I wake up feeling dumb what I do last night
Oh yeah I was with you, that's right
But wait, wait, you now
I roll over see you on the ground
You must be out closer, I touch your skin it's so cold
I got chills, I froze with fear
The moment I knew your soul wasn't here
We took our dose, you want more
And now I'm looking at a corpse on the floor
And I wish it was the dance floor
But we left the club

But, when we was up in here still
We pop a couple pills
Forgot how trouble it feels
It's artificial, so official
This is the good life, until we say good night
I think we fix the new height
It's artificial, so official
When we was up in here still
We pop a couple pills
Forgot how trouble it feels
It's artificial, so official
This is the good life, until we say good night
I think we fix the new height
It's artificial, so official

Sirens flashing, cops are asking questions
Judgments in their tones
All I think about is your soul
Who sentence this to a tone
We are came from one place
There's no place like home

When we were still in the club
I should've have followed you,
I should've poured so more
It's artificial, so official
Cause when I came down
You stayed up like an angel
I'll remove this pain girl
It's artificial, so official X 2
