I came back to this city
After being gone for quite some time

And upon my return
I was quite bereft
Everyone I loved and knew
Lived on like I'd never left

This isn't the city I once knew
The same streets and same lights and same places
How can I get back to
The same sounds and same lives and same faces?

Help me find
My way back home
Help me find my way...
Help me find
My way back home
Help me find my way...
Help me find
My way back home
Help me find my way...
Help me find
My way back home
Help me find my way...

Is this the city I once knew?!

And I'll continue to walk these streets
Cast in shadows in the city I knew
And I will continue my search
For my city, no longer in view
And every single person I pass
Will be nothing but a stranger to me
Casting shadows in what was
What was once my great city
And I don't care how their lives go on
And I don't care how their lives end
Coming back here I've realized
This will never be home again

This will never be home... again!
