Interlocked insatiable
Unraveled and untwined
All that is left is what
I wish I'd left behind
With ignorance ignored
I threw it all away
If only you believed
There's more than just today

I'm longing for those never met
Fallen to a fear far crueler than regret

Through thick layers
You will find a way
And punish me for
The things i didn't say
A slow beginning ending
Start with honest intensions
Much colder today
Find comfort in suspension
To think that I believed
When you walked without conviction

I'm longing for those never met
Fallen to a fear far crueler than regret

Pierce through stolen velvet
Spare me the last ounce of viciousness
All I have are reasons
To hold to the purity in this

I'm longing for those never met
Fallen to a fear far crueler than regret
