the girls on the west side got mechanical hands the girls on the east side got secrets in their shopping bags the city breathes in a lonely computer the streets are sick with spring fever

expensive skin the girls on the east side look automatic within the boys are thirsty for a chance to deflower the desperate lovers on their way to happy hour

I can't find a dating service in this city love is a new disease in this city in this city
