"Passing Out Nails"

I heard
you were passing out nails to my closest friends and I heard
you were jealous of the hand the carried my coffin a daydream inspired my illness thoughts grew more poisonous exhausted from the peer pressure my lover put me six feet under

my, my lover
put me six feet under
my my my lover
put me six feet under

you were a missing child at my funeral
and I heard
you were jealous of the shovel that dug my grave death-bed as a roadside attraction tourists would admire my condition I am a psychic wonder

put me six feet under
