

The Knockout Kings

"All Roads Lead Home"

Visit "All Roads Lead Home" on MotoLyrics.com

Let's go!

And as we drive tonight, those signs we read, those signs they start to blur, just like me. Just one more second chance, another way, for someone else to get their feelings hurt. Hide your faults, and warn your new friends, cause I know where you'll run, when they all have let you down. You could never give this up. You could never live this.

So if you ever sever ties, burn your bridges, or you cross the line, I'll be seeing you in better times. We'll be together in the better times.

And as we drive tonight, those signs pass by and everything just fades, even fate. You try to count the times you've ever given into them, but your fingers seem to fail. Close my eyes and don't look back now. I've got new friends.

Go home.

Visit The Knockout Kings page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.