What are the chances there'd be you and me?

There is no might have been, I say it's destiny

Out of all of the lives we could live all of the love we could give

Who would ever guess, out of all the rest, that you would be here with me?

Oh!

It's a one, one, one in a million world

And we're two, two, two in a billion in a one in a million world

Zillion stars in the sky

Planets all spinning by

Take away what might have been

And here we are again

It's a one, one, one in a million world
