"You're A Star"

I crash landed all alone
My ship was broken down
When I first saw you
A constellation on your own

The space between us was electric
How you brightened up the sky

You're a star
There will never be one like you are
You're a star
Look at you shine, would you be mine?

Rapidly I start to mend
The broken pieces for my journey to you
Your stellar presence draws me in

I've been waiting for this moment
Nearly time for me to fly

Do you feel the same as me
Or is this just astronomy?
But I got this crazy notion, baby
That maybe you would like to be with me
