Punctured lungs

I'm out of breath
This time I'm suffocating
I've had enough now
Too numb, there's no resisting
Becoming one with all your failure
No coming back now
This bridge has been burned

Try to cut the chord, tear away
Or I will never be the same
Trust, breaks my bone, violence show
Reject and throw it all away

Consume the fight in me
Suspend reality
If it stops the room from spinning
Repressed identity
Escape reality

You killed the cause
This keeps repeating
Live through the loss now
Redeem your enemies
Recycled thoughts
Feed your delusion
Your lie outgrows you
Becomes it's own truth

Still it seems so wrong, the way you think
And I will never understand
Faith, broke like bone, weakness shown
You lost it and threw it all away

Consume the fight in me
Suspend reality
If it stops the room from spinning
Repressed identity
Escape reality
If it stops the room from spinning

Puncture my lungs
Puncture my lungs

Punctured lungs

I've never felt your emptiness
It makes me sick now

Obsessive with your reason
Compulsive with your failure

Try to cut the chord, tear away
Or I will never be the same
Trust, breaks my bone, violence show

Consume the fight in me
Repressed identity
Escape reality
If it stops the room from spinning
Suspend reality
If it stops the room from spinning

How could you live with yourself?
How could you live with yourself?
How could you live like yourself?
How could you live like yourself?
