Take your time as we have arrived
What would be the honest opinion you could give me
If I asked you just one question
Tell me, tell me, tie me down

From the depths of what we believe
Hanging off every word she bleeds
She begins to tear away from me
Honesty tell me what, what could be changed
Given a chance, a chance to remain
Words of indifference, speaking untrue
Giving a purpose coiling through you

Tell me what, what could be changed
Given a chance, a chance to remain
Indifference, speaking untrue
Giving purposes coiling through you

From the depths of what we believe...

Take, taken away, taken from me
All was learned, hope was all that once was lost
But all alas, all has been taken from me, from me
