A final act of desperation
So stand tall as tonight we dine in hell
Serve, stand by your love as this won't last long
Protect our family as their love will guide you through

In our darkest hour we serve
The sands are burning while our lungs collapse
I can't even bare to try and watch
Ever while feelings of remorse
Will force a premature relapse in our hearts

Stand by your love as this won't last long
Protect our family as their love will guide you through Guide you through
In our darkest hour stay true
In our darkest hour stay true
Stand by your love as this won't last long
Protect our family as their love will guide you through

All for one and one for all
By my own hand this city won't burn
This time things will be different
So raise up all your glass, raise your glass in celebration
We'll live once more, our home won't burn
(Things will be different)
Tonight
