Lighting candles in the church of my choice, loving strangers in the dark

Looking for someone to give me what I lack

Searching for something 'till you showed me the gun in my back

I'm human and I need it, I must have my beliefs

I open myself to the love, yeah

And I love you 'cause you showed me a merciful release

I'm living this time and I know you gave me the reason

Chorus:

One reason (to believe), one reason (you're the one)

One reason (to believe), one reason (my baby)

One reason (it's all I need), one reason (to believe)

One reason (my baby), one reason

Trying to get faith from the eight fifty paperbacks

Hoping they'll show me the way (the way to what?)

Man in a crisis, a young girl in his bed

She's trying to help him when she tells him it's all in his head

I'm human and I need it, I must have my beliefs

I open myself to the love, yeah

I love you 'cause you showed me a merciful release

I'm living this time and I know you gave me the reason

chorus

I bow to the east or I kneel to the west, it's a matter of faith

I'm the only one who has to believe it

chorus

(Solo)

One reason, one reason, one reason, one reason

I bow to the east or I kneel to the west, it's a matter of faith

I'm the only one who has to believe it

One reason (to believe), one reason (you're the one)

One reason (one reason), one reason (my baby)

One reason (that's all I need), one reason (to believe)

One reason (to believe), one reason (just give me one)

One reason (one reason), one reason (to believe)

One reason (it's all I need), one reason (my baby)

One reason (my baby), one reason (my baby)

One reason (you are the reason), one reason

One reason (that's all I want), one reason (that's all I need)...
