Try to think of all the things
You ever see inside your tiny head
But don't look up, you'll see the strings
And maybe even feel the pulling thread

Someone's got to tell the story
On and on till we all know
Life's an ocean
You're a boat on
You can choose where you will go

Running scared and breathing air
Laughing mad and getting there
Trying hard without a care
Giving up, something to share
Looking forward;
Oh by the way
Now and then at the end of the day
What a shame, you might hear me say
But I know a game we can play

Follow the leader, follow the leader
Follow the leader, follow the leader
On and on and on and on, oh
Follow the leader, follow the leader
Follow the leader, follow the leader
On and on and on and on

Cross the oceans, ford the rivers
On and on, and on and on
Trek the passes, march through deserts
On and on and on and on
Up the hillsides, round the coastlines,
Scale the mountains, brave the winds
On and on and on and on
And on and on, and on and on

So tell your master when he beckons
Tell him now, this very second,
I won't be your slave no more
And go.
