I saw the teardrops on your pillow
So you can't hide your memories
I know your feelings and your sorrow
No chance to see your family
You have to play your role a life for Rock'n Roll the stage is waitin' for ya, you're the star

Open the door, go out and sing for all the people
One step below there is a bridge just to their hearts
So come along and say hallo
This is the way you have to go
Believe in you, you're gonna be a star

Open the door there is no better place to be
Your smilin' face, thats all they wanna see
So come along and say hallo
There's the way you have to go
Believe in you, you're gonna be a star

A final look into the mirror
A precious moment just for you
You've never been a lonesome dreamer
You always gave the best of you there is a part of your soul, you never can control
no one will listen to your thoughts

Open the door, go out and sing for all the people
One step below there is a bridge just to their hearts
So come along and say hallo
This is the way you have to go
Believe in you, you're gonna be a star

Open the door there is no better place to be
Your smilin' face, thats all they wanna see
So come along and say hallo
There's the way you have to go
Believe in you, you're gonna be a star
