It's a shame how
They speak your name without warning
Like there isn't anything for this
When everyones turning away,
You could shine like you're the one
Who could hold all all who have come
To be loved by someone whose love
Always is the same
It's the same old
Some indescribable feeling
That takes all that you have been needing
That needs all you have to take
You could shine like you're the one
Who could hold all all who have come
To be loved by somebody whose love
Always is the same
There's no question
Of how much you mean what your meaning
To keep everybody from leaving
With how much you say you can make
You could shine like you're the one
Who could hold all who have come
To be loved by someone whose love
Always is the same
You could shine like you're the one
Who could hold all that has gone
Who could love like someone whose love
Always is the same.
