She was good
She was fine
And she made me think she was mine all mine
Till I looked
In her eyes
And I read that girl between her lies [sung -- "thighs."
No kidding.],
well

Something happened on the way to paradise
But every heartache has its day
And every cheatin' heart pays the price
yea yea

What goes around
Comes around
Baby don't look back when you hear that sound
What goes around
Comes around
And I won't be here
When it all comes down on you
It all comes back to you

She said please
Take my hand
Let me lead your heart to the promised land
But the girl
Had a plan
And she left me there for another man, well

Everybody plays the fool
Now and then
But no exceptions to the rule
That it all evens out in the end
yea yea

What goes around
Comes around
Baby don't look back when you hear that sound
What goes around
Comes around

And I won't be here when it all comes down
What goes around
Comes around
Baby don't look bck when you hear that sound
What goes around
Comes around
And it won't be long
Till it all comes down on you
It all comes back to you

[At the end, a strange distorted voice says something like
"all the same," or possibly "Paul's a saint" :)]
